A Gift Remembered

To each is given the manifestation of the Spirit for the common good.

1 Corinthians 12:7, NRSV
There are all types of memes out there now that begin with "if 2020 were (first blank) it would be (second blank)." Such as, "if 2020 were a food truck it would be liver and onions." My favorite is about making lemonade out of lemons, illustrated by a pic of a cut-in-half lemon that is 90% lemon peel with one tiny bit of juicy flesh in the very middle. Yah, I'm looking to find something good about 2020. Perhaps it turns our to not be so difficult because the good is in such a stark contrast to everything we've had to get through.

If 2020 were a person, it would be my Uncle Junior. He lived in my grandparent's unfinished attic. When we visited, he'd lie on the living room couch all day chain-smoking and watching television. He was quite a sight with hair and beard covering his grubby, v-neck t-shirt collar. We boys lay on the floor, marveling at the television, because it was back in the days before my parents could afford a household TV. Uncle Junior introduced us to the Three Stooges and provided a running commentary on the plot. My parents would allow us three episodes; then it was, "Go on outside to play."

The last time I remember seeing Uncle Junior at my grandparents’ home was on Thanksgiving, when I was about 7 years old. His hair and beard were all the longer since our summer visit, and he may have been wearing the same t-shirt as before. For some reason, he had a buck knife sheathed on his belt. He remembered we could only see three Three Stooges episodes; so, before we were sent outside to play, he invited us up to his attic room. Uncle Junior had joined a record club and wanted to give us some albums. My older brother was gifted with an Elvis Presley album. I was gifted with the "Don Janse and his 60 Voice Children's Chorus Christmas" album. I remember receiving this gift as if Uncle Junior were giving me one of his prized possessions, and i remember wondering with concern how he could possibly part with it. I did not know about the nature of Uncle Junior's "strangeness" at the time, but a few months later he was committed to the State Hospital and spent his remaining 35+ years in mental health facilities.

This Children's Chorus Christmas album gift was Christmas-defining in my life. Fifty-five years later now, on this 2020 Thanksgiving, I found the album on Youtube. As I listened for the first time in over 50 years, I knew the order of the tracks and anticipated each solo coming up in each song. Of course, there is deep nostalgia in hearing the songs again. Yet, there is even more to that 1965 Christmas gift: I remember the fullness of Uncle Junior sharing something so significant to him that he wanted me to have it. There was not much in Uncle Junior’s life that made sense, but there was nothing truer than that gift of the heart amidst the chaos.

Gifts of the heart enrich our troublesome times. From this year, I will remember the absolute faithfulness of our chaplains and pastors who have found ways to keep ministering during CoVid-distancing protocols. I will remember the outpouring of prayer and concern when my son and his partner missed their scheduled return time from a backcountry trek. I will remember the connecting that happened, even by Zoom, for our virtual Conference Annual Meeting. I will remember sermons and devotionals that spoke comfort and challenge for living through these times. I will remember that as much as we were thrown off a sense of equilibrium, we constantly found ways to put our best forward.

Global Ministries Idea

2020 has been a year like none other in our lives! The COVID pandemic has changed our way of doing church, our way of thinking about others, our way of celebrating important occasions and holidays, and our ways of expressing gratitude. In this Advent season of things being different, GLOBAL MINISTRIES has an opportunity for you!

Maybe you have someone you’d like to remember or honor this Christmas season, someone who doesn’t want any gifts or is in a position to not need any material items. Think about what it might mean to them to receive a card from Global Ministries that indicates you have chosen to honor them by making a donation that can help do good work for those less fortunate and in dire living conditions. Or, as the moods of the season take you to memories of someone you have lost, making a donation in their memory can truly be a meaningful way to highlight the life you shared with them. Or, maybe there is simply someone dear to you that you would like to honor with a special recognition.

Here are Alternative Christmas suggestions for ways you can support the work of Global Ministries this season.

- General gift where most needed to support our mission personnel and partners in 90 countries.
- Gift to the Center for Social Equity and Inclusion in India. This is the partner specifically chosen as part of Global Ministries’ current Southern Asia Initiative; Gifts will be used to support their response to the COVID-19 pandemic in addition to their ongoing social justice efforts.
- Gift of global crafts. Purchase hand-crafted items created by global artisans from places such as Congo, Chile, Colombia, East Timor, India, Palestine, Thailand, and the US.
- Gift to a selected theme area of your choice. These areas can be found on the web site.

More information can be found at globalministries.org/alternative_giving.

You can make your donation directly online, where you can find the craft catalog as well. If making a donation by mail is easier, use this address (Global Ministries, Office of Resource Development, P.O. Box 1986, Indianapolis, IN 46206), and be sure to indicate the address to which you would like to have an acknowledgement sent. Global Ministries will send that as well as a receipt to you. MOST IMPORTANTLY: 100% of your gift will go to your designated choice, with nothing used for administration or banking fees.

Merry Christmas from Global Ministries.

Healing the Earth

Our Conference Green Team met in November. Our three goals are:

1. Share information with Conference churches about becoming a Creation Justice Church.
2. Engage in political advocacy around clean energy solutions to heal the earth.
3. Identify someone at each Conference church to be a Green Team liaison/member.

"Green Team" will meet again Tuesday, Dec 15, 2 pm.

- Register in advance for this meeting: https://us02web.zoom.us/meeting...

After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information about joining the meeting.

Goal 1 Actions: We are making connections with groups that are already doing political advocacy around climate justice issues. When we have these connections better established, we will publicize these around the Conference.

Goal 3 Actions: Your pastors and moderators will be receiving a letter from our group, inviting someone from your church to be a Green Team liaison/member. If you find someone to join/connect with us, there will be a gift! (Look for the letter to come soon).

Surviving the Pandemic

Held a Zoom gathering for clergy serving local congregations, to share strategies, support, and find "worship buddies" for shared worship planning.

Worship sharing between churches, such as University UCC Missoula and Red Lodge Community UCC, and Great Falls UCC with Plymouth UCC Helena.

Connecting Our Justice Work

During our time “together” at CAM, we discovered that there’s a lot of justice work being done across the conference. From book studies to peaceful protests, our churches are doing the work of justice. So, let’s get connected!

Anyone who is interested in justice work in your church and/or community are invited to participate as we begin to explore more about working for justice within our own communities and across the M-NW.

Our Dec. 16 Agenda (roughly):

- A time of reflection/devotion
- A little background
- Get acquainted (not your life story — name, church, role you play in your church’s justice work)
- Roles within the group: note-taker/secretary
- What’s happening now (what are the churches up to these days?)
Conference. Participating in this year’s CAM is not a requirement but we hope that those who were part of the justice break-out sessions will join in.

We’ll meet via Zoom on December 16th at 6:30 – 8 pm.

Questions? Contact Lynne Spencer-Smith 406-770-9157 or pastor@greatfallsucc.org

- Connecting the dots (Ways we can connect for resources and encouragement)
- What can we do better together? (Combining efforts for greater impact)
- What other groups can we connect with and who will start that connection?
- What’s next? (including setting date/time for next gathering)
- Three things – Set three things to be done in the next 6 weeks (this would normally be a month but, you know, Christmas).

Peace in the Midst of Chaos

Pilgrim UCC, Bozeman, Christian Education Director
MT-NWy Conference Faith Formation Committee
Looking out my window, I see the beauty of the Rocky mountains brushed with freshly fallen snow and I am in awe of its majesty. For a small moment I feel a peace in the stillness of my soul as I surrender to the winter elements, the cold, the wind, and the ice formed on the tree branches. I take a breath, say a prayer of gratitude and recognize God’s beauty and love during this storm of chaos and illness that surrounds us. Simply put, I say a prayer for the gift of life and all that comes with it.

2020 has dealt us insurmountable blows. We have seen millions of people infected with Covid-19 and hundreds of thousands die from the virus. Families have navigated work while overseeing their children’s online school. Our elders and compromised community has lived in isolation for months. The stress and anxiety is palpable, creating a whirlwind of emotions.

This virus has hung over our nation while we watched cases of police brutality be tried in our courts, children still being detained in cages at our borders and a growing distrust of our mainstream media. The chaos erupted causing massive emotional fatigue, continuing political division and many questioning God’s presence in our lives.

Our physical spaces for spiritual growth were closed, leaving many bewildered and scared. Our entire way of being was broken. So, we as a church community worked diligently to create a connection to one another through our desire to serve a loving God. We sought moments of peace during constant moments of chaos.

In John 16:33 it states, “I have said these things to you, that in me you may have peace. In the world you will have tribulation, but take heart. I have overcome the world.”

I find solace in worshiping a God who recognized and lived in a world fraught with hardships, sickness, betrayal, and death. Jesus fully understands our humanity, our trials and teaches us to find peace within him, within our relationship with God. In every worry, God is there. God is present in our lives and in our world. We can lay our uneasiness on the promise Jesus has made and cemented in his death and resurrection.

In the days ahead, I pray for your own moments of peace. I pray for the gift of stillness to reach every aspect of your life. Do not be afraid to lay down burdens on the shoulders of our God and allow yourself to find joy in the smallest of things.

As you navigate through much uncertainty, may the first verse of the hymn “Be Still my Soul” provide solace and peace.
Be Still my Soul: the Lord is on thy side;
bear patiently the cross of grief or pain;
leave to thy God to order and provide;
in ev'ry change he faithful will remain.
Be still, my soul: thy best thy heav'nly friend thro' thorny ways leads to joyful end”.
